

Food Technician R&D (m/f/d)

From now on

In the food sector, Pulsed Electric Fields (PEF) are used to physically open plant or microbial cells. Founded in 2012, ELEA GmbH deals with in the industrial implementation of this innovative technology and has become the world market leader in this field. We distribute our PEF systems worldwide and develop concepts for the optimization of production processes and / or products in close cooperation with the food, beverage and scientific industries.

Tasks and responsibilities

- Self-reliant performance of internal experiments in the pilot hall
- Support and execution of trials with customers (pilot hall or in industry)
- Training customers worldwide to use PEF technology
- Support for students within practical applications in the pilot hall (PEF systems and analytical equipment)
- Research with pulsed electric fields for various applications

Your profile

- Education or Bachelor's degree or comparable in a food-related discipline
- Longstanding experience in the snack food industry
- Evaluation of data and their documentation as well as presentation
- Structured and independent way of working
- Very good working knowledge of German and English oral and written

Our offering

- Exciting and innovative projects
- Start-up similar work environment
- Dealing with innovative technologies in the area of food production, analysis, preservation and structure modification
- A varied, self-responsible and demanding task with appropriate remuneration
- Working in an international team and with international clients

Permanent position with attractive salary.

Working in an international team and in a dynamic corporate culture.

Free parking and drinks. Team events.

Are you interested? Then please send us your complete application including cover letter, CV, certificates, references and salary expectations. We look forward to receiving your application!

Contact

Elea Vertriebs- und Vermarktungsgesellschaft mbH

Julia Stobbe

Professor-von-Klitzing-Str. 9

49610 Quakenbrück

j.stobbe@elea-technology.com

www.elea-technology.com

Find us on

 ELEA GmbH

 Elea Technology

 Elea_Technology